

CHILD'S PLAY: The Camino de Santiago can be an adventure for all the family

WALKING the Camino in Spain with your kids might sound like you've bitten off more than you can chew but walking-holiday experts Camino Ways can make things a bit easier for active families.

The Camino would be a challenge for any child so Camino Ways are now offering families the chance to cycle along this famous path.

The route is broken down into 20km per day so kids can enjoy it, without feeling too tired at the end of the day.

The cycle starts in Sarria and ends at the outstanding Cathedral of Santiago and nights are spent in comfy, family-friendly accommodation.

The package does not include flights, insurance, dinner on the first night and some transfers.

To book, just log onto the website www.caminoways.com or call 01 525 28 86.

factfile

WHERE: Camino de Santiago

COST: €613 per adult.

SPECIAL OFFERS: 40 per cent off for kids aged three to nine and 20 per cent off for kids aged 10 to 17. Children under two are free.

PRICE INCLUDES: Luggage transfers from hotel to hotel, half-board during the cycle, holiday pack, bikes rental, accommodation.